PRESSMAN WANTED

HELP! HELP!

—Help yourself and help us at the same time.

The double exclamation above is not sensationalism. It is not the frantic appeal of a drowning man or a mother in an effort to rescue her child from fire.

—It is simply that we want the customer to help the retailers out on the Saturday rush this week.

—You can do it in this way.

—All of you who are not tied down to your work during the day make your purchases Friday.

—This will give you a chance to get good service.

—It will also give Saturday wholly up to those who work in the mill—the shop and the laborer outside.

—It is simply impossible for the clothier, dry goods, milliner and boot and shoe trade to wait on their customers unless you help them as stated above.

—DON'T, we beg of you, who can come Friday put it off until Saturday.

—If you must come Saturday bring along a good stock of patience and good cheer.

Buy Right

In this lies success.

Comparison is a good way to determine whether you are buying right. A healthy curiosity to see what's in the market takes time, of course, but it is worth the trouble.

We invite comparison, and want you to test the merits of our clothes by these means.

Compare them with other makers of equal price, that's the only favor we ask. Do this. You'll find it time well spent.

DEATH OF THOMAS FERNALD.

One of Methuen's well known residents passed away Wednesday in the person of Thomas H. Fernald, who died at his home, 90 Pleasant street, at 6 a. m. at the age of 76 years, 10 months and 15 days. Mr. Fernald had been ill for some time.

Mr. Fernald was born in Alfred, Me., and came to Lawrence in early life, beginning his career as an employee in one of the mills. He learned the mill business and was for quite a number of years superintendent of the weaving department of the Pacific mills. He built a residence on Common street near the Free Baptist church in Lawrence and resided there for some years. He was also at one time connected with mill industries in the South.

About 15 years ago Mr. Fernald and his family came to Methuen to reside, where he has since made his home. While his residence was in Methuen Mr. Fernald had been employed for the late firm of Carleton and Smith who were grain dealers for many years. The last work performed by the deceased was with F. M. Victor, a local grain merchant.

During his long residence in Lawrence and Methuen the deceased made a host of friends, all of whom will regret his demise.

Mr. Fernald was a regular attendant at the First Congregational church in Methuen when his health allowed it.

Beside a wife the deceased is survived by one daughter, Miss Maud Fernald, a well known trained nurse and one son, William Fernald, of the grocery firm of Moffat and Fernald in Methuen.

The funeral will probably be held Saturday afternoon. Burial will be in Bellevue cemetery, Lawrence.

COX-RILEY WEDDING.

A pretty wedding took place at 24 Chase street, Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, when John Cox, a well known employee of the Arlington mills, and Miss Alice Riley were married by Rev. Mr. Wood of St. Paul's church.

The ceremony took place in the parlors of the handsome new home of the couple and was witnessed by about 100 friends of the contracting parties. The bridesmaid was Miss Ethel Dixon and the best man was Alex Stone.

The bride was attired in a beautiful gown of pale blue silk trimmed with silver sequins and white lace. She carried a shower bouquet of break-of-day pinks, and a small wreath of orange blossoms adorned her head. The bride-smaid wore steel colored silk.

The couple received many presents, consisting of silverware, hand-painted china, rugs and household articles. An entertainment was furnished by the following, who rendered songs: George Feagill, Ada Dixon, Alex Stone, Harry Robinson and William Kellett. Alex Stone gave several renditions on the piano and Thomas Baldwin had charge of the graphophone. A wedding supper was served and abundant refreshments were served during the evening.

After a short trip to relatives out of town, the couple will reside at 24 Chase street.

"He (philosophizing)—I used to think that I knew a great deal; that I was very wise, in fact; but the older I become the more I realize that I know nothing."

She—Agnostic or plain ignoramus.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Clara—You don't mean to say you have been out skating all the afternoon? I should think you would be awfully tired; I suppose there was no place where you could sit down.

Kate—Oh yes; there were places all over the pond; I used them all, I guess.—Boston Transcript.

"She's not at all vain about her beauty, although she has a good cause to be." "The idea! How do you know that?" "She told me herself."—Philadelphia Ledger.

THE REAL JEFFERSON.

Jefferson, as portrayed by the average spellbinder to the average voter, was a rusty and crusty old codger who lived in a log cabin, with the chinks indifferently closed, dressed in a baggy linsey-woolsey, wore a cap of coon skin with the tail dangling, drank out of a gourd dipper and dined on fat meat and cabbage softened with an abundance of pot liquor. This is the portrait that gives point to a good deal of the talk about "Jeffersonian simplicity," and supports the outcry in certain circles against the policies and practices of today. Let us go back and copy this man, we are assured, and all will go well with us as a people again.

This Jefferson is of course as mythical as "Mrs. Harris." There never was no such a person. The great man who stamped his genius so indelibly on our institutions and national life was a pig in his skin and not on his back. The best of everything, but would have it at any expense. He lived, as the phrase then was and still is, like a fighting cock. His house was richly appointed and his table bountifully spread. He was so good a judge of wine that an expert tester like Harry Leblanc could not have misled him. He dressed in the fashion, though was a little too homely to aspire to the role of a successful dandy. This was the man whom from the very top of the heap, wrought and fashioned so wonderfully well for the plain people. The marvel is that such a man should have been so guided in his politics and sympathies and activities as a statesman.

Let the truth be popularized and presented in the plainest of language, and the estimation of many sapheads, take a tumble.—Washington Star.

ANALYSIS OF CURRENT EVENTS

Classified, Explained, No Sensationalism or Partisanship

COMMERCE and INDUSTRY

Industrial.

For Philippine Railroads.

A number of Chicago capitalists having friendly relations with Secretary Morton have engaged an expert to draw up plans for the construction of a complete railroad system for the Philippine Islands, in which they propose to invest millions of dollars, regarding the combination as a matter of patriotism and good business.

Second Hudson Tube Begun.

Work has commenced on the second tunnel of the three projected under the Hudson river. This tunnel is to be constructed by the New York and Jersey company.

To Rival Steel Trust.

A syndicate of Pittsburgh business men, headed by Henry Fowkes, have purchased 600 acres of land near Allequippa, Pa., on the Ohio river, for $1,500,000. They intend to build one of the largest iron and steel plants in the country in opposition to the steel trust. In addition to the steel mills, a large blast furnace and a plant for the manufacture of pressed steel cars will be erected.

Labor.

Chicago's New Truck Strike.

The strike of 200 drivers and teamsters employed by Montgomery, Ward & Co. of Chicago, which began April 7, had its inception in the strike of a hundred garment makers several months ago, involving the open shop issue. Scenes of disorder followed the attempt of the company to deliver goods with nonunion drivers, and the police had to use their clubs in dispersing crowds of sympathizers. Some of the latter were reported to have used acid filled eggshells as missiles. Mayor Dunne promised to preserve peace, but would exhaust every effort to bring about arbitration.

Employees Must Not Bet.

The Public Service Corporation of New Jersey has posted notices prohibiting all employees of its car lines from gambling or betting in any form. Investigation has shown that a large number of employees were gambling away their earnings on pay days.

Commercial.

Large Contract For Coal.

The United States Steel corporation has made an arrangement by which the Pittsburgh Coal company will furnish one-third of its output for twenty-five years. It is agreed that the steel trust shall not develop any more coal territory.

Big Trust Companies Merged.

It was announced unofficially April 11 that the City Trust, North American Trust and the Trust Company of America, all of New York city, with deposits aggregating over $50,000,000, would be consolidated in the near future under the name of the Trust Company of America. Oakleigh Thorne, president of the North American Trust company, is to head the new institution. The capital of the combine will be $2,000,000 and its surplus $9,000,000.

Harriman Out of N. S.

When the stockholders of the Northern Securities company met in Jersey City April 11 they did not re-elect E. H. Harriman as a director, but chose in his place a supporter of President Hill. The fact that the Harriman interests were not represented and the Harriman stock not voted indicates that the Hill-Harriman war is still on.

Crop Report Breaks Corner.

The efforts of certain big Chicago grain operators last week to corner the wheat market was frustrated, at least for the present, by the effect of the government crop report, which indicates a winter wheat average of 91.6 on April 1 as against 76.5 at the same time last year. This means probably 68,000,000 bushels more than the bumper crop of 1902.

Cunard Breaks Away.

During the annual meeting of the Cunard Steamship company at Liverpool April 13 it was decided to break off all compromise arrangements with the continental lines owing to the failure in carrying out some of the agreements. It was not certain that this severance of the tentative agreements would mean a renewal of the rate cutting.

Beef Trust Boosts Prices.

Prices of beef in nearly all the great business centers of the country have advanced. The Chicago packers claim that they have been serving the retail markets at a loss for the past month and a half, during which time the producer of cattle has been receiving a dollar advance over past prices. Swift & Co. say that the range cattle producers master the situation.

Investigation For Equitable.

The committee of Equitable Life directors, headed by H. C. Frick, which was appointed to investigate the management of the society has sent a long letter to President Alexander calling for details of every phase of the society's business. Mr. Alexander called a meeting of the agency managers and appealed to them for their support in his stand for mutualization. Both Hyde and Alexander opposed the Lord suit to restrain the directors from putting through the mutualization plan.

Thirty-three Theaters Trust Bound.

During the legal controversy between David Belasco and Erlanger Brooks, representing Klaw & Erlanger, over the profits of "The Auctioneer," Abe Gruber, counsel for the theatrical syndicate, or trust, produced a copy of the secret contract between its members. It was dated April 1, 1900, and showed that thirty-three theaters in the principal cities of the country were controlled or leased by the parties to the contract. Mr. Belasco on the witness stand swore that the syndicate had deliberately crushed his enterprises.

Kansas Halts Western Union.

The state charter board of Kansas through its attorney general has demanded that the Western Union Telegraph company pay $20,000 as a fee for a permit to do business in that state. The telegraph company has never complied with the Kansas corporation law.

RELIGIOUS

Rockefeller Objectors Answered.

The formal announcement of the acceptance of John D. Rockefeller's gift of $100,000 was made April 12 by the prudential committee of the American board of foreign missions. The committee says it would be morally wrong and legally impossible to return the money, but that it would decide similarly on moral grounds alone. Seven reasons are given—first, because rejection would express condemnation of an act of benevolence; second, that while the accumulation of fortunes may be a menace to society their distribution by the owners while yet alive is a safeguard; third, that the board is not organized to determine questions of economics, temperance or socialism; fourth, that it has no right to set up a new ethical standard against a majority of the board; fifth, that any accusations against the donor should first be tried by the church of which he is a member; sixth, that the gift places the board under no obligation to approve the acts of an individual or corporation, and, seventh, that the trustees have no legal right to refuse a gift because they do not approve of the giver.

Rockefeller Money to Baptists.

Treasurer Perkins of the American Baptist Missionary union announced at Boston, April 10, the acceptance of gifts of $200,000 from John D. Rockefeller for the construction of mission buildings in foreign lands. He said that the money had been solicited by officers of the union. "No action," he added, "has been taken in regard to the acceptance of gifts, and every one seemed grateful for such general contributions." This action, however, has not passed without criticism from the Baptist pulpit.

Presbyterians to Unite.

The proposition for a union of the Cumberland Presbyterian church with the Northern Presbyterian church has been approved by a majority of the 114 presbyteries of the Cumberland body, and the northern church is voting for union by a large majority.

Says Preachers Take Rebates.

The Rev. Robert Cameron, editor of Watchword and Truth, comes to the defense of Mr. Rockefeller in his April issue by saying that the securing of special rates was usually the custom until forbidden by law and asks if the ministers are consistent. He adds that as a rule they are not the men to object to special rates from railroads, colleges, libraries, bookstores or other sources of modern comfort. He wants to know why they should have half rates any more than the common herd of men. He insists that Mr. Rockefeller should not be condemned without being heard in his own defense.

EDUCATIONAL

Woman Her Own Lawyer.

Much attention has been given to the remarkable legal victory achieved by Miss Anna Belle Miller, a deposed supervising school principal of Philadelphia, in the common pleas court of that city April 12. Two years ago she was forced out of her position on charges of vile conduct preferred by President Hagvey of the school board. Poor and unable to obtain legal advice, she set to work to study law and was recognized as her own counsel in the prosecution of Harvey for conspiracy and libel. She made a brilliant address to the jury and was awarded $14,900 damages. Dr. Harvey has appealed the case to a higher court.

Anna Belle Miller.

Virginia University's Boom.
The University of Virginia, at Charlottesville, which was founded by Thomas Jefferson eighty years ago, entered upon a new era of expansion April 13 with the inauguration of Edward A. Alderman as its president. Hitherto the institution has been governed by a board of regents. The great feature of the day, aside from the inaugural ceremonies, in which twenty-three college presidents and high state officials took part, was the announcement that John D. Rockefeller had offered $100,000 toward raising the fund of $500,000 necessary to claim the gift of another $500,000 from Andrew Carnegie. Mr. Rockefeller's offer was accepted by the university.

Actor For College Faculty.

The University of California has called Ben Greet, the actor-manager, who brought "Everyman" to America three years ago, to occupy the chair of dramatic literature, this being the first instance when a member of the dramatic profession has been offered a chair in a university faculty. Mr. Greet is recognized as an authority on early and Elizabethan drama, and at present is engaged in a series of Shakespearean revivals at the Studebaker theater, Chicago.

Cut Out the Eighth Grade.

Superintendent Martindale of Detroit is trying the experiment of omitting the eighth grade from three schools of that city, thus limiting the elementary course to seven years. Pupils who wish to take eighth grade work are enabled to do so in connection with the high school work.

Miscellaneous

Accidents.

A large reservoir while in course of construction near Madrid, Spain, April 8 collapsed, and it is believed that 400 lives have been lost. More than eighty bodies have been recovered. The disaster was due to bad material and quick work.

A hailstorm swept over Pittsburgh April 10, causing thousands of dollars damage.

Later reports during the week from India show that 10,500 persons were killed by the earthquake shocks at Kangra and 3,000 at Palampur.

A crane collapsed at the Pullman Iron works, St. Petersburg, April 13, killing eleven men and injuring fifteen.

FROZEN FLY REVIVED.

The host, a prominent banker and society man, made the announcement that it was possible to bring a fly to life again after the latter had been on ice for some time and was seemingly ready for the coroner's verdict "frozen to death." Naturally every one laughed at what appeared to them to be a wild yarn of the imagination.

There was only one thing for the host to do, so he promptly bet all the guests that he could bring a frozen fly to life, and the guests were eager to wager that he couldn't.

A maid was sent for some ice, and by careful maneuvering she also managed to catch three flies. The host took one of the flies, placed it between two big chunks of ice, with another chunk over the top, and there the fly was left to cool off.

A little later the fly was removed from the ice and placed on a piece of cardboard, and there was no doubt in the minds of the guests that the fly was frozen stiff, for there was not the slightest movement of either the wings or the legs.

The host carefully covered the fly with table salt, and then told the eager watchers to keep a close watch. Five minutes went by, but there was not the slightest movement from the salt, and the guests made all manner of fun of their host.

Eight minutes had passed, and then, to the extreme wonderment of all except the host, the fly crawled out of the pile, and after walking about the table and getting rid of the salt, flew away. And the host was vindicated.

PREMATURELY EMANCIPATED

It would seem that the authorities at Janesville acted hastily in declaring a man insane merely because he was apprehended while "wearing a pair of costly corsets, long silk stockings and gaudy garters, a woman's shirt waist, a bustle and corset." The facts would indicate that he is a prematurely emancipated man, a forerunner of the glorious line of masculine beings who, through the advancement of women, are to take the place of the whilom fair sister. All reformers are considered more or less insane, and all are compelled to bear the odium and derision which come with unusual and unexpected movements. Doubtless in a few years—thanks to the continued progress of true womanhood—the men who now deem women's apparel on man an indication of the diseased mind will not only meekly but joyfully put on these symbolic vestments to do their duty in that new state to which it has pleased the good Lord to call them. To the day of vindication the far-seeing man from Janesville looks confidently forward.—Chicago Post.

CASE FOR THE TRAVELER.

One of the prettiest of souvenirs for a traveler was given this week to a young woman about to start for Florida. A strip of brocade silk, white ground sprinkled with tiny roses was lined with thin white rubber cloth. To this strip were fastened two pockets of the silk, and two strips of silk between them, stitched around each with a row of white taffeta ribbon, more of which finished the edges of the strip of silk. The pockets were for a small sponge, and a tiny powder box and puff respectively. The strips of silk were to hold a tooth brush and nail brush. When the case rolled it was tied with white ribbon.

SERIOUS STOMACH TROUBLE CURED.

"I was troubled with a distress in my stomach, sour stomach and vomiting spells, and can truthfully say that Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me."—Mrs. T. V. Williams, Laingsburg, Mich. These tablets are guaranteed to cure every case of stomach trouble of this character. For sale by All Druggists, Lawrence; W. A. Allen, Andover; C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

Czar Stakes All on Rojstvensky

When it became known last week that the Russian fleet commanded by Admiral Rojstvensky, which so long had waited in the friendly French waters of Madagascar, was boldly steaming through the strait of Malacca and northward across the China sea the world realized that the war party at St. Petersburg had played its last trump card. With full knowledge of the battle that must be fought with the powerful Japanese fleet of the never beaten Admiral Togo before there could be hope of reaching the Russian base at Vladivostok, Rojstvensky and his great armada of forty-two vessels, decks cleared for action and guns manned night and day, moved onward without attempt at secrecy, first stopping to coal near the American waters at Manila and sending his hospital ship to the French port of Saigon for supplies.

Admiral Rojstvensky.

In the meantime Japan had closed the chief port at Formosa, and it was believed that Togo's fleet was hiding near the Pescadore Islands, at the mouth of the Formosa strait, ready to pounce on the bold Russian invaders. Rojstvensky's fighting vessels included six battleships, either seven or nine cruisers, of which two were armored, and seven or eight torpedo boats. Togo was believed to have only five battleships, but was known to have at his disposal eight armored cruisers and sixteen protected cruisers, besides a large torpedo squadron. The Japanese had advantage in large caliber guns.

For the moment Russian officialdom hoped feverishly, while Tokyo waited calm and confident. Whatever the outcome of battle, the terrorists and revolutionists of Russia continue their plans for a general uprising on the 1st of May.

Fire Alarms—False and True.

We had thought to say something regarding the profligacy with which the general public call upon the fire department, and until Saturday night there had been more than a six months' freedom from any false alarm with which to emphasize anything we might say. But alas for hopes built upon boy's excitability! The six months' spell was broken with a rude shock Saturday night, and there are still two disturbing factors in administering the fire department instead of one.

The false alarm is no new subject, and nothing new can be said upon it. The authorities have temporized with it on several occasions, but woe betide him who is again detected.

The true alarm, which is now of interest, is such an alarm as that which came in over the telephone from West Parish last Friday, and called the entire department on the keen jump nearly four miles into the country. And when the destination was reached, the only fire was found in a brush heap with absolutely no property in danger. Horses seriously strained, firemen out of sorts, and wear and tear of all kinds were the sole results of a heedless alarm.

Now we are confident that no member of the fire department will ever shirk the duty of doing everything possible to protect suburban property, but our good outside friends should learn that there is some sense required in even ringing a fire alarm. If there is no water at hand there is little sense in taking apparatus that depends solely upon water for efficiency; if there is nothing burning but grass, it calls for only a supply wagon and some men; whatever the cause for alarm it demands that he who gives it shall think twice before sending in the call.

Editorial Cinders.

The writer has a friend who has a grievance. There may be many such, but this is a particular friend and a particular grievance. He owns an automobile, and the roads have thus become very important to him. He wants to have the mud holes filled in the highways, the rough places made smooth, the sandy places made hard, etc. But as filling he is just now drawing the line at old nails, glass bottles, and tin cans. "Fussy," you say? Well, perhaps, but tires are expensive. Now we don't believe our worthy superintendent of streets approves of this material, and so we are glad to bring the nuisance of its use to his attention. Backyards should be cleaned out, but don't dump the contents into the public highway. The particular place that offends just now is on Walnut avenue, but there are many more in the town just as much a nuisance to somebody as this one is to the writer's friend.

Glad Easter, glad music, glad clothes! Perhaps the order is not just right, but so long as all is gladness what difference can the order make? And all are most fitting, even to the clothes, for it is the time of all the year when fresh garments are being put on. The whole world outside is fitting its spring suit and trimming its new bonnet. It isn't a comic paper subject, it is much rather a serious obligation upon all of us to partake to our fullest possible opportunity of the spirit of this season of the year. Then put on all the new garments possible that lend any help to the occasion, and thus freshly clothed, as all the world is, get full of the Easter gladness.

There will be revived many pleasant memories of a young man who left behind warm friends and an enviable record of usefulness in the town, when he left Andover for larger opportunity, by the announcement of an illustrated lecture on the "Panama Canal," by Mr. Henry C. Pearson. Mr. Pearson is now the editor of the India Rubber World, and is regarded as one of the best informed men in the country on rubber matters. He has been an extensive traveller, and the Andover club has certainly provided a treat for its members in an evening with Mr. Pearson for next Monday.

This is the time for the small boy and the big mitten. No longer is the worn-out glove of our daddy a sufficient protection to the hand that catches the baseball. It must be a specially constructed pillow, and alas for the youth whose belt doesn't dangle at least one such implement of war! We wonder if they have any more fun than we did with balls made out of discarded winter socks, and bats whittled from broken cart-stakes.

The death of Major Marland, while not wholly unexpected, brings a shock to the town that had so long and prominently known him. For many years he was a leading figure in the town's life. As soldier, postmaster, and citizen, he was a man of high character and large influence, and his home town will ever cherish his memory.

Many Brush Fires During the Past Week in Various Parts of the Town

Shortly before two o'clock last Friday afternoon an alarm was pulled in from Box 32 at the engine house for a brush fire which was raging in the Good district about a quarter of a mile from the school. The alarm was sounded by an employee of the Public Works department who was told that the house of John Shaw was on fire. The general alarm brought all the horses to the house and a long, hard run of four miles was then made to the fire. On arriving there it was found that it was only a brush fire with a pile of lumber burning briskly. The department did not do any work towards putting it out as it was nearly extinguished and when the horses were thoroughly rested the return trip was made. The land and lumber was owned by John Shaw.

About quarter past three Box 28 in Ballardvale was pulled in for a brush fire on High street, which threatened St. Joseph's church, but which was extinguished without much damage by the Vale department.

On Sunday morning the department had two fires to contend with. One was a brush fire on the Old Railroad near Carmel woods when a large tract of land was burned over. It required the work of about ten men for two hours to extinguish the blaze.

At 11 o'clock a still alarm called a portion of the department to the home of J. William Dean on Main street where a chimney fire was in progress. A chemical was used with good effect, the fire being put out without much damage being done.

On Sunday evening a trip was made to the Cricket club grounds where another brush fire was in progress. This fire was not very serious and the firemen worked over the whole field to insure safety for the rest of the season.

At 2.45 on Monday afternoon a telephone message was received from West Andover stating that a brush fire of large proportions was raging in the woods west of the West Parish school. Captain Morse and a gang of men went to the scene and after several hours hard work succeeded in extinguishing the blaze.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon to extinguish a large brush fire which was raging in Carmel woods. It was feared that the residence of F. H. Johnson was in danger but the prompt work of the firemen confined the blaze to the woods.

Fire at Frye Village.

The fire department was called to the residence of William A. Trow in Frye Village about half past eight on Wednesday morning to extinguish a fire in the ell of the house, that had caught from a grass fire. Mr. Trow was burning the grass behind his house when a strong breeze forced the flames to the house.

A chemical was used by the firemen and the blaze was easily extinguished. The all out blew at nine o'clock.

Abbot Academy Notes.

The announcement that the senior class of Abbot Academy would present Shakespeare's play, "The Two Gentlemen of Verona" on the twenty-fifth of April was made some little time ago; but it is perhaps well to state again that the young ladies are working hard for its success, and that the stage arrangements are expected to be unusually beautiful, and that some of the costumes are from the Newton Dramatic club, which stands very high for its excellent presentation of good plays. The play is one that requires considerable careful work because of its dialogue and quiet action, and in order to understand the plot clearly. It is one which seems especially interesting, because it is not so often presented as others of Shakespeare's. The young ladies of the senior class always are very grateful to all the friends who support them so cordially. The play will begin at half past seven o'clock in Davis hall in the McKean Memorial building. The tickets will be fifty cents, to be had at the bookstore and at the door.

Last Gentlemen's Night.

The Recreation club closed a very successful and enjoyable social season last Friday evening when gentlemen's night was observed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Messer on Locke street. The party was one of the most unique in the history of the club, being typical of the house cleaning season. The favors were miniature brooms and scrubbing brushes which were appreciated by the ladies; the gentlemen, however, were not so delighted over them as they agreed that house cleaning days were the most disagreeable in a married man's life.

Whisk was enjoyed for a greater part of the evening and the prizes were won by Mrs. Howell F. Wilson, first ladies' prize, bric-a-brac brush; Mrs. George L. Burnham, second ladies' prize, floor brush; Frank H. Messer, first gentlemen's prize, picture representing a peaceful scene after the toil is over; Fred M. Temple, second prize, whisk broom. The card tables were trimmed in pink.

Caterer Frank P. Higgins served refreshments later in the evening.

The Andover Association football team met defeat at the hands of the Methuens, last Saturday afternoon at Glen Forest, in the second game of the medal series, by the score of 2 to 1. Poor playing of the backs is given as one reason for their failure. The forward lines played a faultless game throughout the match.

The following team will represent Andover in the last of the matches for the championship of the County. The match may be held on the Lawrence Cricket grounds tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. Take transfers on the North Andover line and get off at the cricket grounds. Goal, David O'Connell; backs, D. Renny, W. Matthew; half backs, W. Stirling, A. Haddon, R. Anderson; forwards, D. Falconer, J. Monro, E. Anderson, R. Cairnie and Ross.

The Association football team played a friendly game with the Lynn club on the cricket grounds, Wednesday afternoon before about 400 spectators. The game was very evenly contested from start to finish and ended in a draw 3 to 3. The following team represented Andover and showed a decided improvement over last week, at Glen Forest. The team: Goal, David O'Connell; backs, David Rennie, William Black, half backs, W. Stirling, A. Haddon, W. Matthew; forwards, Falconer, Monro, A. Matthew, R. Anderson, A. Ross.

The Juvenile association football team went to Quincy Wednesday morning to play the return match with the juveniles of that place, the Andover boys being beaten by the score of 3 to 1. After the game the boys were entertained by the Quincy club. The team was managed by Alex Black and returned home in good form and in high glee over their day's outing. The following is the team: Robert Donovan, J. Gorrie, D. Matthew, W. Manning, P. Cairnie, Henry Porter, B. Matthew, J. Kennin, J. Black and J. Anderson.

A Cricket match was played Wednesday morning on the Cricket grounds between teams picked by Captain John Gordon and Vice Captain James Sullivan the latter winning by the score of 52 to 41. Some very good form was displayed by the younger members of the club and it is expected that they will be able to put a better team in the field this season than they have done for some time. The club will play its first match of the season with the Mohairs of Lawrence on May 6. Bruce, Gordon, Black and Hudson bowled for the captain's team. A. Anderson, W. Black bowled for the vice captain's team.

Parcels Post Regulations.

A much desired and long felt want has at last been granted by the U. S. postal authorities in establishing a parcels-post between this country and Great Britain and Ireland. Heretofore it has been impossible to send merchandise to Great Britain except at letter postage and the great reduction in rates will be gladly welcomed.

Following are the regulations:

Order No. 154.

A Parcel-Post convention having been concluded between the United States and the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and to take effect April 1, 1905, Parcel-post packages for destinations in Great Britain and Ireland will be admitted on and after that date to the mails for Great Britain and Ireland made up in and dispatched from this country.

"Parcels" exchanged between the United States and the United Kingdom must not exceed $50.00 in value, weigh more than (4) pounds six (6) ounces (or 2 kilograms), nor measure more than three (3) feet six (6) inches in length, and six (6) feet in length and girth combined.

Parcels which do not conform to these conditions, or which contain "prohibited" articles will be treated according to the Customs Regulations of the country of destination.

Postage must be prepaid in full at the following rates, viz:

In the United States, on parcels for Great Britain and Ireland, 12 cents for each pound or fraction of a pound; and, in Great Britain and Ireland, on parcels for the United States, 2 shillings for each parcel, whatever its weight.

A delivery charge not exceeding 5 cents in the United States or 2-1/2 pence in the United Kingdom may be collected of the addressee of each parcel.

Except as above noted, and that no provision has been made for registration, the Parcels-Post Regulations on pages 1101-1105 of the United States Official Postal Guide for January, 1905, apply to "parcels" for the United Kingdom.

Parcel-Post mails for Great Britain will be made up at the post offices of New York, Boston and Philadelphia.

Postmasters will cause due notice of the foregoing to be taken at their offices.

R. J. WYNNE,

Postmaster-General.

Letter to Ovid Chapman.

Andover, Mass.

Dear Sir: A painter complained that our cans are too full; unhandy; spill.

It's a way we have; 'tis handier not to be full; but we have a weakness for full measure. Our gallon contains eight pints; the usual "gallon" is seven.

We'll think it over again but we like a full can. How much short would you like a barrel? Seven gallons would be the proportion.

Short-measure suggests that the shortage is probably not in the cheapest ingredient.

Guess we'll stick to four quarts to a gallon, and fifty gallons a barrel.

The name to go by is Devoe lead-and-zinc.

Yours truly,

Y. P. S. C. E. UNION

A Successful Meeting of the Y. P. S. C. E. Union at the Free Church.

The quarterly meeting of the Andover Christian Endeavor Union was held with the Free Church society last Friday evening. There was an unusually large attendance of members from the various societies and the meeting was a most enjoyable one.

President Gayton Abbott had charge of the meeting and was assisted in the praise service which preceded the business by the pastor Rev. F. A. Wilson.

The reports of the secretary and missionary were read and accepted, this being followed by the roll call, when each society responded with a verse of scripture. The banner was won by the North Andover society with an attendance of 70 per cent at the meeting. The percentage of the other societies was as follows: Free, 55 15-17; Ballardvale, 44 16-61; South, 38; West, 34 3-8; Baptist, 26 2-3; South Juniors, 15 5-13.

The addresses followed and were given by the pastors of four of the churches in the Union. Each speaker spoke on a subject chosen by himself and in every case they were timely and interesting. The first address was given by Rev. John Keedy of North Andover, who took for a topic "Heroic Living." Mr. Keedy impressed upon his hearers that the work of a Christian Endeavor must be heroic so that his life may be reflected by others.

Rev. A. H. Fuller was the next speaker. His subject was "Live to Stand God's Test." Mr. Fuller spoke very interestingly and the time allotted to each speaker seemed too short for a full talk on this subject. He urged each Christian Endeavor to live each day aright so that if called upon at any time they might stand the test.

Rev. A. T. Belknap spoke interestingly and instructively on "Work for Christian Endeavor Society," in which he told how much greater work could be accomplished in the church work.

The last speaker of the evening was Rev. J. Edgar Park who spoke on "Work for Individual Christian Endeavorers." He gave valuable instruction to each of the members on how to conduct meetings so that they may prove more profitable to themselves and the society.

Following the meeting, President David M. May of the home society extended an invitation to all to the vestry, where refreshments were served by the social committee, consisting of chairman, Mrs. David May; Alice Coutts, George Carter, Bertha Coutts, Charles Riddick, William Wylie.

Following was the program:

BASEBALL

Punchard H. S., 8; Alumni, 4.

The annual game between the Punchard high school nine and a team composed of members of the alumni was played on the diamond in the rear of the high school Wednesday morning.

The playing of the Alumni team plainly showed the lack of practice and together with the inability to hit Moynihan they may attribute their defeat. The latter pitched a great game, striking out 17 men and allowing but one base on balls.

The base running of the school boys was very poor and they are weak at the bat. In a few positions the fielding could be improved upon. Too much praise cannot be given Captain Moynihan for his work on the diamond. He not only pitches well but fields his position like a veteran. He is also a good batter. Poland played a good game behind the bat, holding Moynihan well. He is very strong, throwing to bases and bats very well.

Following is the summary:

WHAT ALL THE WORLD IS DOING

Trend of Civilization in All Lines From Week to Week

POLITICS and GOVERNMENT

Executive.

Rebates to the Government.

The comptroller of the currency has charged Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department and Director Wallcott of the geological survey with having made contracts with western railroad companies providing for the payment of rebates to the government contrary to the interstate commerce law. The charge occurs in connection with the execution of the irrigation law, where Secretary Hitchcock found that by entering into a contract with the railroads he could save the government about $1,000,000, the railroads agreeing to reduce rates upon all materials intended for government use.

A Pension Office Scandal.

Vespasian Warner, the new pension commissioner, has notified several members of the board of review to show cause why they should not be dismissed or reduced on account of slipshod methods and especially for allowing pensions to members of a regiment that was never in the service of the United States. This regiment was organized in 1861 by Colonel McLane at Erie, Pa., and offered its services under the first call of President Lincoln for three months. Pennsylvania's quota was filled and the regiment was not accepted. Recently members of this regiment who applied for pensions under order No. 78 have been successful.

Census of the Philippines. The census bureau has made public the results of its census of the Philippine Islands, the principal object of which was to form a basis for the establishment of a Philippine legislature. The population of the archipelago, composed of 342 islands, is 7,635,426. Foreigners number about 50,000, of whom three-fourths are Chinese. Of this number 7,000,000 are more or less civilized. The wild tribes form about 9 per cent of the entire population. The civilized tribes are practically all adherents of the Catholic church. The Moros and Mohammedans and the other wild peoples have no recognized religious belief. More than half of the population cannot either read or write in any language. A majority are engaged in farming small tracts of land, alternating this with fishing, while the women weave hats and cloths. Eleven per cent of the pupils in the school understand English. In 1902 there were forty-two newspapers. The rate of wages has been doubled since the American occupation.

Limit of Newspaper Mail. The postoffice department has decided to draw the line against accepting as newspaper mail the various articles offered as premiums in connection with the Sunday papers, but which are not strictly germane to the newspaper itself. These include calendars, sheet music, patterns, postcards, cut-out animals, etc., and they will not be mailed after Sept. 1 except at the regular rates of postage.

Notes. The first class battleship Minnesota was launched at Newport News, Va., April 8, christened by Miss Rose Marie Schaller of Minnesota. President Shonts of the Panama canal commission has created a favorable impression at the outset by defining the keynote of his policy as "direct business methods, publicity and absolutely no politics." He says there will be monthly reports of progress, funds expended and outlook. He will not resign his duties as president of the Toledo, St. Louis and Western railroad. After spending five days hunting coyotes and jack rabbits in Oklahoma President Roosevelt and his party started for Colorado April 13. During the hunt eighteen coyotes were killed. In Colorado he is to hunt bigger game under a special hunting license from the state game commissioner.

Legal and Criminal. Alaska Under the Constitution. In an opinion delivered by Justice White, April 10, the United States supreme court unanimously agreed that the constitutional provision for trial by jury exists in Alaska, although it has never been specifically extended there by congress. It was pointed out that the treaty by which Alaska was acquired provided that its inhabitants should have the rights of American citizens.

Senator Mitchell's Plea. United States Senator John H. Mitchell entered a plea of not guilty to four indictments of the federal grand jury April 11 at Portland, Ore. He challenged the acts of the grand jury by charging that it was not legally constituted.

Beef Trust Indictments. On April 13 three employees and one of the attorneys for Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, the New York packers, were indicted by the Chicago grand jury. They were promptly arrested and released on bonds. They are charged with obstructing service on a much needed witness and helping him to escape to Canada.

Senator Burton Reindicted.

The federal grand jury at St. Louis has reindicted United States Senator J. R. Burton on the charge of accepting fees from the Rialto Grain and Securities company, for which he was alleged to have acted as an attorney before the postoffice department. This action is pursuant to the decision of the United States supreme court on disputed points of the former trial.

Philadelphia Bourse Purged.

On information made public by the North American quo warranto proceedings to annul the charter of the "con" or fake stock exchange which has occupied quarters in the Philadelphia bourse building, also notice of eviction May 1, was served. The crooks who have operated the "con" exchange turned over the control of the concern to the firm of Haight & Freese, a syndicate of bucket shoppers, in return for aid in fighting their legal battle.

General.

Rival Jefferson Banqueters.

The two Jefferson day banquets on April 13, one at New York and the other at Chicago, illustrated the existing divergence of views among the men who in the past have been prominent in the councils of the Democratic party. At Chicago the principal speakers were Mayor Dunne, W. J. Bryan, Mayor Johnson of Cleveland and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, and the burden of their talk was denunciation of monopolies in any and all forms, while Mayor Dunne frankly advocated the national ownership of interstate utilities as the Democratic platform.

At New York Alton B. Parker, D. Cady Herrick, Mayor McClellan and others added their more conservative, but less specific, views about what should be done. Mayor McClellan made the bit of the occasion by owning up the lesson of defeat and proclaiming that public office should not be the sole ambition of Democracy.

Mayor Dunne Installed.

Without public demonstration or ceremonial Edward F. Dunne was inaugurated as mayor of Chicago on April 10 in the council chamber, being accompanied by the retiring mayor, Harrison. His first act was to appoint Clarence S. Darrow as special counsel in the litigation with the street railway owners. Mr. Darrow is known widely as the defender of the miners before the strike commission.

Roosevelt's Retirement Plans.

The announcement made by President Roosevelt at Dallas, Tex., that he would be permanently through with his present position in four years, after which he would write the history of Texas, has set at rest the talk in some quarters about forcing his third term candidacy.

New York Republicans Plot.

The first serious cloud on the horizon of the Harriman-Odell Republican machine in the state of New York has appeared in the shape of a defensive and offensive alliance between Senator Platt and ex-Governor Black.

New York City's Vote Buying.

That $574,000 was spent by the Republican and Democratic parties in the city of New York for the purpose of purchasing over 170,000 voters besides the patronage of the election machinery itself is the careful statistical estimate announced by John Gilmer Speed in Harper's Weekly, based upon personal investigations. Mr. Speed found that in each of the 1,550 election districts each party employed a captain, who in turn employed a number of assistants at $5 apiece for election day. These assistants in turn handed out the cash for votes, varying from $1 for negroes to $1.50 for Italians and $2 for Americans.

H. C. Frick in Politics.

Pittsburg hears that its millionaire townsman, H. C. Frick, has decided to take an active part in national politics during the next presidential campaign, entering the field from New York instead of Pennsylvania. A Pittsburg paper says he refused the offer of the treasury portfolio in the Roosevelt cabinet.

SOCIOLOGICAL

The Women's National Council.

The triennial convention of the National Council of Women, with delegates representing 2,000,000 in all sorts of organizations, has been in session at Washington. Mrs. Mary Wood Swift of San Francisco, a sister of Major General Wood, presided.

After a warm discussion the council voted 23 to 4 for a resolution condemning polygamy and against the seating of a Mormon in the senate. The Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the Woman's Suffrage association, sharply criticised the men who prated about wifehood and motherhood and said that the women must stand up for a husband and fatherhood. As to the rearing of children, she said we must first make our country fit to rear children in.

Carnegie at Northampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Carnegie were the guests of honor at Northampton, Mass., April 12, when Carnegie House, the latest building of the Home Culture clubs, was dedicated. In his address Mr. Carnegie took occasion to approve of dancing as one of the club's means of entertainment. He also said he looked forward to the time when each community, seeing that religion in its essence is one, would come together without denominational differences and strive for the general good.

Cost of Women's Clothing.

Edward Atkinson, the Boston statistician, has published figures showing that a woman can clothe herself fittingly on $65 a year, thus implying that most society women are unnecessarily extravagant.

SCIENTIFIC

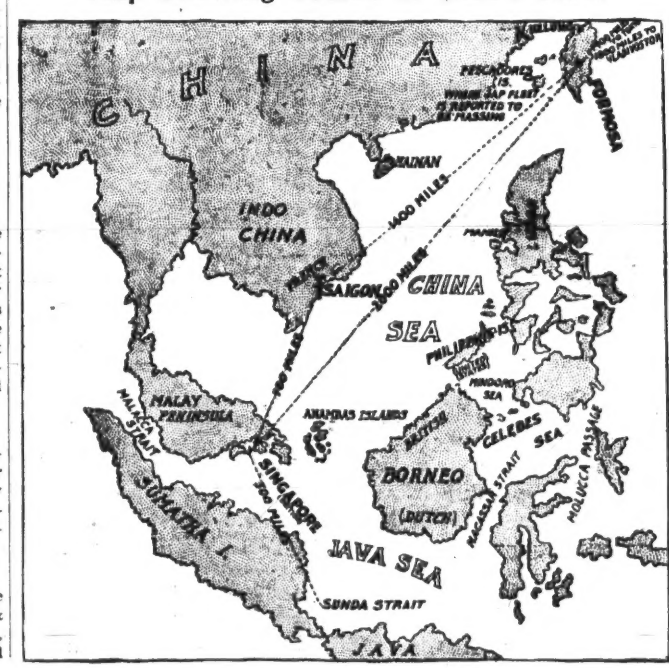

Planet Mars Changing Color.

Professor Percival Lowell of the Flagstaff (Ariz.) observatory has notified the Harvard officials that the color of that portion of Mars known as the erythraean sea recently turned from blue green to chocolate brown. Professor Pickering of Harvard thinks that this change is merely climatic. The so called sea is not believed to be in reality a water area, but a level extent of vegetation. Winter is the present season on Mars, but the usual snow areas have not been observed by the astronomers.

Electricity Versus Eyeglasses.

Dr. Stephen Smith of the Battersea hospital, London, has recently arrived in America for the purpose of demonstrating to the medical profession the success of his new treatment for defective vision. It consists in the application of electricity to the ball of the eye and pressure without pain so as to rectify refraction. Less than a year ago he discovered this method by which people with far sight, short sight or astigmatism can be made to see better without spectacles than with them. He denies that his method is principally massage of the eye. He admits that massage is valuable as a stimulation to circulation, but insists that his method involves the correction by direct pressure on the part of the eye structure corresponding to the defect.

Dyspepsia of Women

ABSOLUTELY NEEDLESS AGONY

Caused by Uterine Disorders and Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A great many women suffer with a form of indigestion or dyspepsia which does not seem to yield to ordinary treatment. While the symptoms seem to be similar to those of ordinary indigestion, yet the medicines universally prescribed do not seem to restore the patient's normal condition.

Mrs. M. Wright

Mrs. Pinkham claims that there is a kind of dyspepsia that is caused by a derangement of the female organism, and which, while it causes a disturbance similar to ordinary indigestion, cannot be relieved without a medicine which not only acts as a stomach tonic, but has peculiar uterine-nerve effects also.

As proof of this theory we call attention to the case of Mrs. Maggie Wright, Brooklyn, N. Y., who was completely cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after everything else had failed. She writes:

"For two years I suffered with dyspepsia, which so degenerated my entire system that I was unable to attend to my daily duties. I felt weak and nervous, and nothing that I ate would do me any good. I tried different dyspepsia cures, but nothing seemed to help me. I was advised to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and was happily surprised to find that it acted like a fine tonic, and in a few days I began to enjoy and properly digest my food. My recovery was rapid, and in five weeks I was a well woman. I have recommended it to many suffering women."

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement, or has such a record of cures of female troubles, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

AN ARMY OF WOMEN.

The most extraordinary feature of the Dahoman army is its female warriors or Amazons. In 1728 the Dahoman King was hard pressed by his old enemies, the Whydahs. In his extremity he organized a regiment of women. It fought well, and the Whydahs were defeated and their country annexed. The Amazons were, in consequence, made a permanent division of the army. (Cezar, the greatest of the Dahoman kings, put the Amazons on a level in every way with the male soldiers, gave them female officers, and raised their number to 4000, and it is said that there are still about 3000 of them. On a certain day, once every three years every subject must bring all his adult daughters to the King. The most promising of them the monarch chooses as officers and the rest become soldiers, while the more promising daughters of slaves are made servants of the Amazons. Some of the Amazons are given as wives to male soldiers who have distinguished themselves. A few of them become concubines of the King. The rest are required to remain celibates. If one be caught in a liaison she is put to death by her comrades, and the man also is executed.

For every enemy slain by her in battle an Amazon is decorated with a cowry, a piece of shell money which is glued to the butt of her musket by the hand of her victim. The Amazons are divided into five corps—the hardy bush women, the elephant hunters, the razor women, the infantry or line women and the archers. The razor women are armed with swords about eighteen inches long, which shut up like a razor. The archers carry a bow, poisoned arrows, and a small knife. Travelers in Africa have differed in their estimates of the Amazon's efficiency as soldiers. They are savage as tigresses, but Capt. Burton, who

GERMANY'S FAST DAY.

Among the most characteristic things that Emperor William has ever done has been his change of the national "Busstag" or day of national fasting and repentance, from the month of May to November. He found that the weather in May was so fine and the springtime scenery in the rural districts so beautiful, that his subjects, instead of spending the day in mourning their sins, in religious meditation and in prayer, availed themselves of the opportunity to betake themselves out of town for a gay holiday in the country. So he changed the day to the latter part of November, and this year, the weather throughout his dominions on that particular date was so abominable, dark, rainy and windy that nobody felt any inclination to go holiday-making. This day of national fasting is, as in other countries, statutory, the choice of the date, however, being left to the discretion of the ruler. In England, for instance, the law does not compel the sovereign to have a day of this kind every year, but leaves him free to decree one by means of a public proclamation whenever he sees fit. In order that the day thus proclaimed should possess the full qualifications of a legal holiday it must be proclaimed in accordance with the words that it should not only be a day of repentance, but likewise of fasting. —Baltimore American.

NEWSPAPER USES.

Any woollen or silk garment hung up in a newspaper bag will be insured against moths, fading, dampness or dust. In fact, insects have such an objection to printer's ink that shelves covered with newspapers will be free from moths, ants, etc., than those on which white paper has been spread. Poor people could make use of newspapers in many ways to advantage. By folding them lengthwise they make excellent weather strips. As interlining, combined with cotton, they are nearly as warm as chamois skin. Besides all this, old newspapers when soaked to a pulp and torn to shreds make excellent paper mache when mixed with glue, and in this form can be used for various purposes, such as filling cracks in wood and colored to match it. —New York Tribune.

WHY WE GROW OLD.

(T. P.'s Weekly.) The proximate causes of failure of power in old age are now coming to be fairly well understood. Everybody knows that the different parts of the human organism daily die and are renewed, that the skin loses the vitality necessary to protect the true and peels off, and that even the cells of the bones are exchanged for new ones, until it may be said that the man who lives beyond maturity retains no part of the body that he was born with.

Hence it was at one time thought that the signs of senility were due to a failure on the part of the repairing cells to perform their functions. But this is now seen to be a fallacy. Such hair as an old man does retain on his head grows with greater quickness than when he was young. On the limbs, within the nostrils and ears, hair gets more abundant and craggy; and with the Mongolian race the beard does not appear until very late in life. The finger and toe nails, which are formed by the same secretion as the hair, grows faster in old age than in youth. Finally, therefore, it is not the repairing cells that are at fault.

The true cause of senility must therefore be looked for deeper, and it seems that we find it in the voracity of certain wandering cells always present in our bodies. Some of these cells, which physiologists class together as macrophagi, seize upon the coloring matter of the hair and make it white; others devour the contractile tissue of the muscles, while yet others take from the bones the mineral substances necessary for their healthy existence, and reduce them to the brittle condition which makes falls and other injuries so often fatal to the old. Men, while similar cells are at work upon the liver and the kidneys.

Can nothing be done to arrest these giant cells in their Regan-and-Goneril-like attack upon the parent who gave them life? Prof. Metchnikoff, whose researches on the subject have lately attracted much attention, thinks there can. He suggests the use of counterpoisons, either in the shape of attenuated cultures of the very bacilli in question, or by direct antidotes, among which he mentions milk treated with a special ferment coming from Bacteria, which stimulates the secretion of lactic acid and raises up other microbes to fight against the hurtful ones.

But he warns us that his theory as yet depends more upon conjecture than on fact, and the only proofs of it that he adduces are the activity of the macrophagi in bacterial diseases like leprosy and tuberculosis, and the very reduced proportion in long lived animals, such as birds and tortoises, of that large intestine which in mammals is the chosen home of microbes. More practical, perhaps, are the rules for longevity which he himself quotes from our own countryman, Dr. Weber, and which may almost be summed up in the Greek maxim, "Nothing in excess."

Most of us eat too much, and for a man making no special demand on his strength, 4-5 ounces of nitrogenous food and 1-2 ounces of fats or other hydrocarbons a day are ample. Sleep, too, should not be prolonged beyond six or seven hours, and, according to sex; and it may be doubted whether the frequent naps to which old age is so naturally disposed do not give occasions to the macrophagi of which they are prompt to take advantage. Wine, which has been called the blood of the aged, has as often proved theirbane, and should be taken sparingly. Exercise—constant, daily and regular—is of the greatest advantage. —Los Angeles Times.

BEWARE THE EASY SHELTER.

Years are but a fool's leisure for youth, which is divine, they bring caution more often than wisdom, and a certain belief in the unreality of joy. A man is quickly disillusioned when he sets up his own idea of "what things are, and what they are for." He then commits the folly of becoming old, and prefers existence to life. He clambers into one or other of the many shelters that line the way, and smiles pityingly at the young who smile pityingly to some end, no matter what, to the beauty of the sky and the clouds and the birds and the trees, live even to the beauty to be seen in one another, breathing deeply of the air of strength, living and loving and beloved, until at last they are made one with nature. But the heart, like the liver, grows torpid without exercise; a gradual decay comes to the man in the shelter, a decay from which he is released, much against his will, by death. There are too many shelters.

TEN THOUGHTS.

Nearly all women are good looking when segregated. In assemblages the impression is one of aggregate homeliness. One of the mistakes of Moses was in not locating Grand street and East Broadway as the real Promises; Land. The New Testament of the Bible was written from Hope; the old Testament from Experience. The Echo is the Soul of Sound. The forest sighs when it feels the axe coming. The dry glasses murmur before the rain with the rustle of expectancy. When a man cries it is because he has lost hope. Most lies are for defense; few for deception. Black always admires white. The bluest violets grow in the greenest grass.

AN ENGLISH VIEW OF OUR SENATE.

(From the Spectator.) The truth is, the power of the Senate in foreign affairs is too great or too little. It should either be deprived of its power of veto in the matter of treaties, or else be regarded as the treaty-making power, with whom the Ambassadors should deal directly, and to whom they should even be jointly accredited. It is useless to carry out delicate negotiations with the Executive if they are to be immediately vetoed by the Senate. Imagine a business house conducted on similar lines!

SCIATIC RHEUMATISM CURED.

"I have been subject to sciatic rheumatism for years," says E. H. Waldron, of Wilton Junction, Iowa. "My joints were stiff and gave me much pain and discomfort. My joints would crack when I straightened up. I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm and have been thoroughly cured. Have not had a pain or ache from the old trouble for many months. It is certainly a most wonderful liniment." For sale by All Druggists. Lawrence; W. A. Allen, Andover; C. H. Shattuck, Ballardvale.

LAWRENCE

GUEST OF THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was given an enthusiastic reception in this city Wednesday at a mass meeting held in the Colonial theatre under the auspices of the Lawrence Central Labor Union.

THE BANQUET.

After the exercises in the theatre all adjourned to the Franklin house where a bountiful banquet was served to about 100 invited guests. President M. C. Noonan was toastmaster. The following is a list of the speakers and the toasts:

Address of welcome, Pres. Maurice C. Noonan; "City of Lawrence," Mayor Cornelius F. Lynch; "A. F. of L.," President Samuel Gompers; "Commonwealth of Massachusetts," Rep. John N. Cole; "Lawrence C. L. U." David J. Blair; "Board of Trade," Pres. H. F. Hildreth; "State Branch, A. F. of L.," L. P. Collins, president Boston C. L. U.; "Trade Unionism and Religion as Helpmates," Rev. William E. Gibb; "Business Men of Our City," Sec. E. C. Stiegler; "United Textile Workers of America," Pres. John Golden; "Friendship," Rev. James T. O'Reilly; "Education," John A. Tucker; "Law Relating to Labor," Joseph Donovan.

PRES. MAURICE C. NOONAN.

President Maurice C. Noonan of the Central Labor Union in delivering the address of welcome said in part:

"Mr. Mayor, invited guests and brother unionists: This is a pleasing event indeed in the history of organized labor in this city. It is particularly gratifying to have with us the representatives of the city government of Lawrence and the representatives of the church with us tonight at such a feast. The results accomplished by the trades union movement in this city are gratifying and the representatives of labor in Lawrence, I think, are not ungrateful. We have with us this evening our esteemed and honored guest Samuel Gompers the president of the American Federation of Labor and on behalf of the assembled representatives of labor I extend the hand of welcome to him and president of the Central Labor Union of Lawrence."

The chairman followed with a few more remarks and then introduced His Honor Cornelius F. Lynch, mayor of Lawrence, who answered to the toast "City of Lawrence."

MAYOR C. F. LYNCH.

The mayor received with rousing cheers which continued for some time. He said in part:

"Mr. Toastmaster and honored guests: Gentlemen, I thank you very kindly for your generous applause and I also want to thank the Central Labor Union for their kind invitation to be present at this evening. I will only say a few words as there are others that haven't been heard and others that I haven't heard. But I have this to say concerning our labor organizations here that we are particularly fortunate in the composition of labor in our city and we are also fortunate that the heads of corporations are willing to meet you on all questions which arise between capital and labor. I was highly pleased the other evening at a public meeting to hear the president of our Central Labor Union make the statement commending the management of a corporation, and just so long as this feeling exists just so long will the city of Lawrence benefit by it. Gentlemen, be guided by the men who have shown themselves to be capable and able to carry on the work of the trades union movement. It is the first time I have had the pleasure of meeting your honored president, Mr. Gompers. The great strides that have been taken by the trades unionists in this country have been made under him and it denotes his ability. I hope he will live long and will continue in his place for I think he is the right man in the right place. In other words, he is the man for the place."

PRESIDENT SAMUEL GOMPERS.

When the veteran leader of the American Federation of Labor arose to speak he was received with a grand ovation. He said in beginning:

"Mr. Toastmaster and gentlemen, I want you to believe me that I am not unappreciative of all the kind things that have been said of me. I would not be human if I were unappreciative of the many kind things personally and privately but I don't want you to believe that I am so vain that I think they are all the tributes to a man. I want you to believe in the men, in the labor movement. I trust that the time shall never come when our labor is to depend on one man."

He launched forth into an intensely interesting treatise of the trades unionists movement and received the warm attention of his listeners.

Every word that the speaker uttered seemed to come from his heart and the impression that he made upon the audience was a lasting one. He said: "I believe that the great movement of labor is permeating and growing toward the high ideal, the brotherhood of man. In speaking of the employment of labor from the poverty stricken areas of Europe and Asia to the lowest possible class in our midst, he said: 'If these people are good enough for them to hire for profit they are good enough for us to unionize.'"

In closing he said: "Ours is a constructive, not a destructive movement. This is not a war against a man but a banquet to the movement."

REP. JOHN N. COLE.

Representative John N. Cole of Andover was the speaker to follow the veteran president of the grand organization of labor. He answered in an able manner to the toast, "Commonwealth of Massachusetts." He expressed himself as being proud at being called upon to answer to such a toast.

He said that the first labor bill ever enacted was passed in 1833, and that the text of the bill was that a man should not pay those in his employ more than a stated sum under the penalty of a fine. But the onward strides of the movement made in the opposite direction since that time more than justified the law.

He said the trades union movement did not ultimately aim to the enrichment of individuals though it is intended to improve the condition of the working man but that organized labor is working for the good of society. He spoke of the house of representatives as the branch of the state government to which the people had direct access and through which they may accomplish more than through the other body which is not so closely affiliated with the people. In saying that labor unionists could not do without the state, he added that it was every bit as true that the state could not exist without the labor unionists. He said that as the obligations of labor to the state are binding, all the more strong should their obligations be to the commonwealth.

He made reference to his chairmanship of the committee on relations between employers and employees last year and of the men who came before that committee in support of labor measures. He said that the legislature had not passed all the bills that were proposed by the labor unions and he did not expect the time would come when they ever would but he said that he was impressed with the manner in which they accepted unfavorable action upon measures. They left the state house with cheerful assurances that they would try again next year. These same men went out more highly respected because they were prompted by their convictions to seek action to remedy certain existing wrongs than the men who sought to secure legislation by other means.

REV. FR. JAMES T. O'REILLY.

The Rev. James T. O'Reilly responded to the toast "Friendship." He said: "I am much pleased with the opportunity the present occasion affords to honor the numerous toilers in the ranks of organized labor in our city, by contributing my part to the hearty welcome to their honored and able leader who is our guest this evening. The circumstances do not permit of any lengthy remarks and the view points of the labor question are so many that it would be difficult to say which would be the most useful and important topic to select."

There is however one thing as true as any dogma of faith, and that is that the interest of capital and labor are not conflicting or even independent factors in our industrial life, but so closely linked by intercommunicating influences that one may not prosper without the aid of the other. To my mind the greatest labor problem is how to make them harmonize by wisely guiding human energy and properly restraining human greed."

"A man who is content that he has been employed and has an opportunity of putting in his time and drawing his wages without rendering faithful service, and the man who expects the greatest possible energy and his help and pays the least possible wages, sin equally against the mutual interests of capital and labor."

"The employer of labor who estimates all his help according to the low standard of the lazy, good-for-nothing, and the disturber, belongs to the same class of narrow minds as the laborer who sees in the great corporation giving employment to thousands but the great over-bearing and crushing tyrant."

"The capitalist has to remember that those who labor and toil by their physical strength to keep the mills grinding out dividends, are not mere machines but human beings with duties and responsibilities in life that have to be attended to as well as the machines they run. Labor should remember that the capitalist is not the heartless Moloch thirsting for blood and crushing out the life of the poor, every man who has his savings invested, whether in his little home, or the local savings bank, as well as in railroad stock, government bonds, or as the owner of the industrial stock."

"Class hatred must give place to fraternal love. Let us have more of Mr. Sinal and his commandments, than of Bacon Hill and its special laws."

Men who combine in unions for mutual protection and the development of their strength and who use their power to crush non-union labor are not doing what the captains of industry do when they combine in the trust to control trade by crushing out their small competitors."

"As all the interests of capital and labor are promoted along the same or parallel lines as they are alike destroyed by the canker worms of selfish greed, and most of the difficulties that develop from time to time either in the petty strike, or in great disturbances throwing thousands out of employment are due rather to individual imprudence, dishonesty and pride than to any real difference in contending interests. With labor well organized and its brightest, ablest and truest men in the Pilot House, we cannot have too much capital or too many capitalists for the good of our country."

The remarks of the speakers followed by a series of witty and clever remarks of the banqueters and particularly pointed expressions were generously applauded.

The evening in fact was dedicated to the discussion of the labor movement.

GOOD SHOOTING AT RIFLE RANGE.

Those who participated went to the range in the electric and in private carriages. The shooting began at 11 o'clock and continued until 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The prizes were then awarded and all sat down to a fine spread.
